Description 61850 allows "filename" to be a string terminated by a delimiter. This is interpreted as the name of a directory instead of a file. 1. sFt2ab step 1 requires that the test system issue a GetFile for each entry in the GetServerDirectory(FILE) response but it does not make sense to perform this request on a directory and it also makes no sense to require a positive response from the DUT in this case 2. sFt2ab step 2 requires that the test system issue a GetFileAttributeValues for each entry in the GetServerDirectory(FILE) response but it does not make sense to perform this request on a directory and it also makes no sense to require a positive response from the DUT in this case The proposed solution is to clarify that only non-directory requests be issued in each step of the test description Proposed solution attached with blue text to be inserted.

History

I think that moving the "which does not specify a file directory next to the FileName is easier to read:

For each File Name (which does not specify a file directory) in the listOfDirectoryEntry as returned by GetServerDirectory(FILE) using an empty file specification :

Alternative: do not extend the text but add a note to the test case:

Note: for File Name representing files and not file directory.

Agree that the wording could be more clear.

Suggest for entire test description before item 1:

Simulator performs a GetServerDirectory(FILE) using an empty file specification and collects the response listOfDirectoryEntry. For each response which does not specify a file directory (i.e. a response which is not terminated with a file delimiter), perform the following steps.
